The Future is in the cloud

digitalsignage.NET is a cloud- based 'software as a service' solution for digital signage. It enables the upload, scheduling, delivery, playback and reporting of digital media content over fixed and mobile Internet connections.

From a web browser, digitalsignage.NET can be used to manage and distribute media content quickly and easily. Unlike other software solutions for digital signage, digitalsignage.NET requires absolutely no server software. Simple to use, simple to deploy and manageable from anywhere in the world.

Flexible

No matter how large or how small the digital signage networks, digitalsignage.NET will scale up or down to fit the bill. This degree of flexibility ensures that you can use our product for a variety of projects. From an end-user perspective, this means that businesses don't have to rewrite their financial plans and invest in a new software every time a network grows.
